

Alter Pharma sets up new cooperation with award nominated co-packer Konings for premium hand sanitizer

After a previous cooperation in April of this year – during which we handed out 21,000 bottles of alcohol gel to pharmacies all across the country for free – Alter Pharma and the R&D department of co-packer Konings have decided to join forces once again. Konings, nominated for the Belgian company of the year award, has partially shifted its production to producing disinfectant alcohol. Both Alter Pharma and Konings realized that the demand and need for high quality alcohol gels is more prevalent than ever, in times of Corona but also with the flu making its entrance once again.

In line with the latter, we have created our very own alcohol gel, called “Alter Care Protect”, which will initially only be sold at pharmacies. With 70% alcohol content, it has an active effect against bacteria and viruses. Moreover, it contains Aloe Vera, which is beneficial for your skin and doesn't dry out your hands. We've added a eucalyptus scent to reassure fresh smelling hands.

The sanitizer is available as of this week. We are happy we keep on contributing to a healthier and safer community.
